

KEEP SEEKING

Keep Seeking is a format where both players use the same deck.

The only attack a player may announce is seek inspiration or copycat to copy seek inspiration.

You may have noticed the deck has no attackers; this is on purpose as the seek inspiration attack has been errata'd for this format. There are 2 ways to play the game.

Randomization:

You may utilize <https://reimuduck.github.io/keepseeking/> or any form of randomization to receive a random non-rulebox Pokémon card for seek inspiration. The provided website will automatically remove the card from the pool, so if you do not use the website, make sure you remove the card from the pool.

Memorization

When you declare seek inspiration you must name the non-rulebox Pokémon card you would like to utilize as well as the attack (You may use any sources to verify the card. However, you may not use any sources to find cards to attack with). After the attack resolves, the player who announced the attack may not name that attack again for that game (write down the cards you have used). If you are having trouble thinking of cards, you may use <https://reimuduck.github.io/keepseeking/> to either find a random card or utilize the name randomization feature to find a random card from the given name (for example, if you input Kyurem you will receive a random Kyurem card).

The Goal

You must setup your Slowking as quickly as possible, disrupt your opponent, and make huge comeback plays if you want to win this game. Besides that, the game is much like any game of Pokémon. Current rules as of 2026 apply.

Important Info:

Any attack that names a specific Pokémon is errata'd to say, "Slowking". This mainly benefits attacks which want an amount of a specific Pokémon in play. Any attack that specifies a type of Energy is errata'd to Psychic energy.

Palace Belt reads, "If the Pokémon this card is attached to is your Active Pokémon, draw 2 cards at the beginning of your turn instead of 1."
